AN ACCURATE INDEX

The statistics of education show that in the year 1890 only 9120 teachers were employed in the high schools of the United States. Today high school teachers number more than 51,000.

The difference between 9120 and 51,000 high school teachers graphically measures America's material and spiritual expansion during the past generation.

The figures are an accurate index of the prosperity that is lifting more and more families to that state of middle-class well-being wherein the labor of the child is not required for the support of the family. These figures indicate, too, a fast-growing appreciation on the part of parents of the value of education and recalls the vanishing type of old-fashioned father who liked to say: "What was good enough for me is good enough for my children."

But, above all else, the statistics reflect the democratic trend of educational methods and programs in America.

It doesn't take an old man to remember the time when high schools were regarded largely as institutions for children of the well-to-do. And, indeed, high school courses had restrictive and aristocratic tendencies. Their admission, largely, was to prepare a limited number of boys and girls to pass college entrance examinations.

Today the newest high schools are great workshops where hand and mind are trained simultaneously. Their tools are machines as well as books. The machine shop instructor and the dress-making teacher rank with the teacher of Greek and Latin.

Small wonder the number of high school teachers has increased 500 per cent in a generation—and still there are not enough of them.

LIGHTNING

Lightning is extremely healthful, declares a scientist who has made that his life-time study. He doesn't mean that it is healthful to the person lightning strikes. No, he doesn't mean that lightning strokes will cure the ill as fakirs centuries ago said they would. What he means is this: "Lightning produces nitric acid, and cleans the whole atmosphere of noxious exhalations."

Had there never been a flash of lightning upon this earth in all the years of its existence the air now would be so foul that living would be impossible, some scientists say.

And by the way, have you heard that health authority say pie—that pie you like so well—kills more human beings each week than lightning does in a year?

Keep those findings of experts in mind when next a thunder storm seeks to terrify you with its flashes of fire through the skies.

If you've got to use a hammer, build a house.

Some of our government employees seem to have the No. 2 ring in their noses.

Hankins says:

You may feel assured that your prescriptions are compounded exactly as your doctor has written them and by men that are licensed by the state of Florida as pharmacists when left at our stores. Ask your doctor. He knows.

It is a market of buyers, not sellers. It is a market of buyers, not sellers. It is a market of buyers, not sellers.

Yesterday Northern Pacific was a good second in activity to Southern Pacific, and Great Northern may move into the limelight at any time. In a few months from now the earnings statement of the rails will be a better guide for a little while to get the results of the economy and the efficiency of private control. I see no change in the industries. They should sell lower."

IT'S BLOOD THAT FEEDS THE BODY
Peps-Mangan Creates Rich, Red Blood, Changes Pale Complexions to Broom of Health

A serious illness, even a cold that is hard to shake off, can follow the blood to a weak, watery condition, which keeps the normal strength and vigor from coming back.

This poor physical condition brings on a hopeless, discouraged mental condition which rich, red blood can restore.

Pure blood should be rich in iron which Nature supplies in some amount in food. But often through faulty digestion or improper diet you don't get the needed iron, and your blood is weak and watery.

Guide's Peps-Mangan enriches the blood, increases the red blood cells and supplies the ingredients that bring a quick response in vigor, vitality and fine color.

Physicians recommend Guide's Peps-Mangan. When you order, be sure the word "Guide's" is on the package. Without "Guide's" it is not Peps-Mangan. Peps-Mangan is not a medicine and is not a drug.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 5.—If your pansies turn pale or your rhododendrons lose their "pink of condition," as it were, don't "run up with cedar oil and give 'em a clover of Epsom salts." It is often done," explains Christian Witkowski, a gardener here. "These things contain nitrogen, which is a necessary plant food. I've cured many sick plants with them."

Hot, Calxin Coolidge

Eric Davidson, MD

Only one has achieved the accolade of being crowned as "hot" in the history of the profession in the past 50 years. He added to scientific achievement a bold strategy to place the medicine in greater perspective, to make it a discipline, the discipline of the relationship to the culture of the society and not just a science, to make the study itself a model education that encompasses in itself the best of the best in life.
